NEEDS AND OBJECTIVES

Urologists attending this meeting need to be aware of latest advancements in the field of minimally invasive therapies. These new technologies are now incorporated into our daily treatments of kidneys, bladders, and prostates in both our adult and pediatric patients. Ohio urologists need to know how to integrate prevention strategies and become educated on the various herbal and over the counter remedies often taken by our patients. All practicing urologists must be kept informed of the legal ramifications we face in our ever-changing medical malpractice climate.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this program, participants will be able to:

- Determine how minimally invasive treatments may be able to positively impact their practice.
- Identify common non prescription substances consumed by our patients and understand their potential positive and negative impacts.
- Apply lawsuit prevention strategies and other practice related legal issues to everyday practice.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Andre Gilbert, MD

The Ohio Urological Society's Annual Meeting will be held for the first time in Cincinnati at The Westin Hotel on March 17-19, 2006.

On Friday evening we gather for the Society's Board Meeting. It is open for all members, and guest speakers engage in political issues relevant to our specialty.

We look forward for our traditional Saturday morning Resident's research paper presentations, followed by an assembly of speakers never gathered before. The program committee will bring, for the first time, Chairmen from all six Ohio's accredited urology residency programs for an exciting round-table discussion. In the afternoon, we will have the opportunity to learn and review the science behind the ever-growing market of over-the-counter urology supplement therapies. The topic of medical malpractice will be then approached by 2 renowned experts, followed by our Society's business meeting.

The Annual Banquet will be a family experience at the Newport Aquarium, just across the Ohio river. Children 12 years old and younger are welcome at no extra charge. A relaxed Sunday brunch will complete the program.

I hope to see you all in the "Queen City".

SECRETARY'S REPORT

James C. Ulchaker, MD, FACS

March 2006 is just around the corner, and this means another intellectually stimulating and enjoyable weekend at our Ohio Urological Society Annual Meeting. This year's event is scheduled at an exciting new venue in Cincinnati, at the Westin Hotel, March 17-19. Our featured general theme is minimally invasive therapies and how these treatments can be appropriately included in our clinical practices.

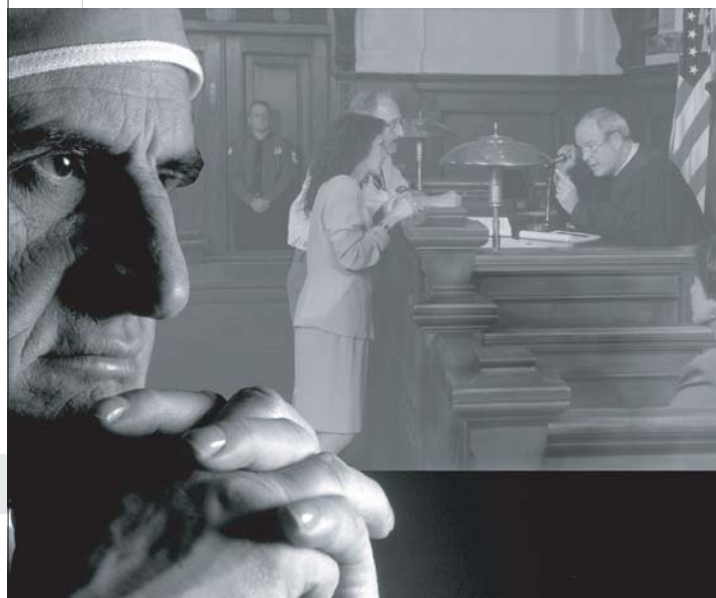

We are quite fortunate to have the educational program highlighted by both lectures and open discussions with our six academic chairmen from our resident training institutions. Topics are scheduled to include minimally invasive treatments for kidneys, adrenals, prostates, and pediatrics. Also, a lecture from one of our most knowledgeable urologists concerning the benefits and pitfalls from phytotherapies and vitamins has been scheduled.

A very strong socioeconomic/legal portion of the program has also been put in place, and we will look at these topics from a radically different point of view than we have discussed in previous meetings. Martin Sandel, a prominent plaintiff's attorney, and John Burke, a prestigious legal economist, both from the Cleveland area, will discuss medical malpractice and the financial consequences from their perspectives.

Once again, our entire educational program will occur on Saturday, with a special Saturday evening social affair at Cincinnati Newport Aquarium, and a family friendly Sunday brunch the following morning.

We look forward to spending a mentally and socially stimulating weekend with you and your family in the Queen's City of Cincinnati in the near future.

When Compromise Is Not An Option

When it comes to treating your patients, you insist on providing only the best possible care. Compromise is simply not an option. The same is true for us. At American Physicians Assurance Corporation, we stand behind you with the resources it takes to defend your practice and protect your professional standing. Because we were founded and are endorsed by physicians, we have a better understanding of your needs and a deeper commitment to achieving positive outcomes. That's one of the reasons we're the Midwest's premier provider of liability insurance to preeminent physicians . . . like you.
