Educational Needs

Urologists at this meeting need to be aware of the latest advancements in their field of practice. These advancements are now incorporated into our daily treatments of kidneys, bladders, and prostates, in both our adult and pediatric patients. Ohio urologists need to know how to integrate these strategies and become educated on the various herbal and over the counter remedies often taken by our patients. All practicing urologists must be kept informed of the requirements of continued board certification, as well as the current status of pay for performance, in our ever-changing economic climate.

Educational Objectives

Upon completion of this program, participants will be able to:

1. Identify the acute and chronic side effects of androgen ablation, and how best to manage these issues to improve one's quality of life.
2. Assess the pros and cons of the acute and chronic use of overactive bladder medications in both men and women.
3. Review the requirements for recertification, the current status of pay for performance, and the future likelihood of reimbursement changes.

President's Message:

Mark D. Stovsky, MD, MBA, FACS

This coming March, we will hold our annual meeting at the Ritz Carlton in Cleveland. The meeting promises to be one of our best ever. We will continue our tradition of presenting the resident research competition to highlight the excellent academic work being done at our academic programs. We will also present a world class faculty to provide members with practical up to date information on clinical and socio-economic topics applicable to both private and academic practice. Back by popular demand will be our panel discussion with chairman from each of the academic programs in Ohio.

The meeting will begin with the executive board session on Friday night followed by the main session on Saturday. The Saturday night event will be held at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. The meeting will conclude with the increasingly popular Sunday morning brunch for members and their families.

Our board has worked hard to plan a meeting that will benefit each of your practices and I am looking forward to seeing all of my Ohio urology colleagues this Spring.

Secretary's Report

James C. Ulchaker, MD, FACS

March 2007 is just around the corner, and this means another intellectually stimulating and enjoyable weekend at our Ohio Urological Society Annual Meeting. This year's event is scheduled on Ohio's North Coast at the Ritz-Carlton Cleveland Hotel March 16-18. Our featured general theme is "quality of life" and how various treatments for can be appropriately included in our clinical practices.

We are quite fortunate to have the educational program highlighted by both lectures and open discussions with our six academic Chairmen from our resident training institutions will discuss a variety of topics concerning our current state of our academic urology in 2007. Also, lectures by Dr. Mark Moyad on hormonal therapies side effect management, to current and cutting edge surgical oncologic therapies are scheduled. Also, an open debate format is scheduled with Dr. Rodney Appell concerning both the male and female aspects of overactive bladder. Lastly, Dr. Chris Gonzales will discuss Pay-for-Performance, as well as other socioeconomic aspects that affect our practices now and in the future.

Once again, our entire educational program will occur on Saturday, with a special Saturday evening social affair at Cleveland's Rock and Roll Hall of Fame (children welcome and under age 10 free for our members), and a family friendly Sunday brunch the following morning.

We hope you have a wonderful holiday season, and look forward to spending a mentally and socially stimulating weekend with you and your family in Cleveland in the near future.
